

EXPLORING CHRIST

I believe in God but I am not sure about Christ.

YOU MAY BE Exploring Christ IF YOU

- Attend worship services but aren't sure if you agree with everything you hear.
- Appreciate what Jesus has to say but aren't sure if you like Christians or want to be identified as one.
- Realize there are injustices in the world that need dealt with, but see yourself as basically a good person.
- Fear you've done too many wrong things for God to forgive you.
- Rarely spend time on your own in prayer or reading the Bible.

Resources FOR YOU

- Prodigal God by Timothy Keller

TAKING YOUR Next Steps

The journey of faith is about taking next steps toward Christ. These are the most important ones you can take. The bold ones refer to ministries/events that Brenneman offers.

- Regularly join the church in worship. Listen to the claims Jesus makes.
- Find a Christian friend who is willing to let you ask the questions you have and be genuine about their own faith journey. Our staff would be glad to do this with you or help you find someone.
- Explore what the Bible says on your own. Begin by reading the gospels—Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. They are the four stories of Jesus' life, death, and resurrection.
- Attend Starting Point. It happens 6 times a year on a Sunday morning.
- Receive Christ as your Savior. Do this by praying to admit your need of Jesus to forgive you of your sins. Tell him that you are ready to move from exploring Him to believing and following Him. Know that He hears your prayer and His grace is enough for you.
